

Study Classics. Do anything.

98%

of Notre Dame Classics majors found full-time employment, enrolled in graduate school, entered service programs, or joined the military within six months of graduation.

24% find full-time jobs

Actuarial assistant, Geico
Analyst, DeGolyer and MacNaughton
Audit staff accountant, Crowe Horwath
Business analyst, Target
Litigation legal assistant, Davis Polk & Wardwell
Litigation paralegal, Sterne, Kessler, Goldstein & Fox

Proposal specialist, Franklin Templeton Investments
Sales associate, Medical Protective Company
Software engineer, IBM
Teacher, Mount de Sales Academy
Urban designer, Urban Design Associates

13% enter service programs

Alliance for Catholic Education
AmeriCorps, New Haven, Connecticut
Congregation of the Holy Cross
Teach for America, Kansas City, Missouri
University of Notre Dame
Campus Ministry

Brian Credo '15
Classics major
Ph.D. student, Classical Studies,
University of Pennsylvania

"I like Classics because it's a very interdisciplinary field. You get a chance to look at not only philology—the study of language—but also architecture and the arts and archaeology. So it offers a lot of different paths, and a lot of interesting things to pursue.

"Everything comes from Classics, whether it's philosophy or art or how grammar in modern languages works. In short, Classics will give you a key to understanding very much of how the modern world works."

59% go to graduate or professional school

Law: American University, Cornell University, DePaul University, University of Illinois, University of Texas, Washington University in St. Louis

Library science: University of Texas

Literature: University of Southern California

Mathematics: Cornell University

Medical sciences: University of South Florida

Medicine: Baylor University, Loyola University, University of Chicago, University of Wisconsin

Molecular biology and genetics: University of Chicago

Refugee and forced migration studies: University of Oxford

Religion: Yale University

Theology: University of Notre Dame

2% join the military

Curriculum requirements

Classics major

5 courses in either Greek or Latin, third-semester level and above

2 courses in non-primary language (Greek or Latin)

1 course in Greek or Roman history

2 classics courses in English

Greek and Roman Civilization Major

1 course in history of ancient Greece

1 course in history of ancient Rome

1 course in ancient archaeology

1 course in ancient literature

6 classics electives (encouraged, but not required, to include some language study)

Source: Career Center First Destination Reports, 2010–2014

Study everything. Do anything.

Department of Classics 304 O'Shaughnessy Hall
574-631-7195 classics.nd.edu classics@nd.edu

Director of Undergraduate Studies
Catherine Schlegel Schlegel.1@nd.edu

 UNIVERSITY OF
NOTRE DAME
College of Arts and Letters